

MR. WILSON'S JOB
IS MADE SECURE

THE APPOINTMENT WAS CONFIRMED THIS MORNING.

Senators Chandler and Hill Exchange Courtesies—The New Hampshire Statesman Makes Charges Reflecting on the Legality of Hill's Election.

Washington, March 1.—The president's nomination of William L. Wilson was confirmed this morning. The appointment of Mr. Wilson was made yesterday, he being named to succeed Wilson S. Bissell as postmaster-general. William L. Wilson is best known to the country in connection with his recent tariff work in congress. He has been a tariff student since he first entered congressional life in 1882, but it was not until the present congress that he became chairman of the ways and means committee, and as such the official leader of the majority in the house.

Washington, March 1.—The senate yesterday passed the sundry civil appropriation bill, including the item appropriating over $5,000,000 for sugar bounties and the provision for a commission to represent the United States at an international monetary conference. Mr. Stewart of Nevada sought to have the United States delegates instructed not to make any agreement short of a recognition of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. This was opposed by Mr. Wolcott who has always heretofore co-operated with Mr. Stewart on the silver question. Mr. Stewart commanded only 10 votes for his 16 to 1 ratio amendment, most of the leading silver men, democrats and republicans, voting against it.

The deficiency appropriation bill was reported by Senator Cockrell, leaving only one bill—the naval—remaining before the appropriations committee.

Consideration of the sundry civil bill was then resumed. Senator Pettigrew offered an amendment appropriating $300,000 for seed for the drought sufferers of the northwest.

After a short debate the amendment was agreed to—yeas 33, nays 17.

Mr. Stewart renewed his amendment instructing United States delegates to the proposed international monetary conference not to agree to a ratio short of 16 to 1 and it was defeated, 10 to 49. The vote was substantially the same as the one earlier in the day. The executive and judiciary bill was taken up and a resolution was adopted requesting the President to urge upon the republic of Nicaragua the settlement of certain claims due United States citizens.

The night session of the senate was a lively one. During his attack on Senators Martin and Roach, involving the validity of their election, Mr. Chandler also referred to the election of Mr. Murphy (dem., N. Y.), declaring it was brought about by a gerrymander and various forms of electioneering larceny, in which he indicated the then governor and present senator from New York was concerned.

Mr. Hill was at once on his feet when Mr. Chandler finished. He took up the reference Mr. Chandler had made to Mr. Murphy and reviewed in detail the political changes of New York state up to his election. Even republican newspapers, he said, had not made such a charge, and it remained for Mr. Chandler to "sneak this nasty charge before the public." Mr. Hill said the New Hampshire senator had "spewed out" this miserable and contemptible attack. He had revamped an old and ancient charge, outlawed by the statute of limitation, a charge never sustained in a court or by a jury. Hill referred to the "fraud by which Samuel J. Tilden had been kept from the Presidential chair," charging Mr. Chandler with being a leader in that affair.

Mr. Martin of Kansas replied to Mr. Chandler's reference to him. Mr. Martin said no honest man had ever questioned his right to his seat, but if one half was true that was charged against the senator from New Hampshire, "instead of being in the United States senate he should be in the penitentiary." Being called to order Mr. Martin said: "I meant no offense to the senate, but it is only strong language that will meet some situations." Mr. Martin finally went on, withdrawing the objectionable words, although he said he could never change his mind as to their application to the senator from New Hampshire.

Mr. Chandler again took the floor at 11:30 o'clock for another phase of the subject, and the battle was renewed for a time.

At 12:25 this morning the executive and judicial appropriation bill was passed and the senate adjourned.

AGAINST THE HAWAIIAN CABLE.

The House Refuses to Concur in the Senate Amendment.

Washington, March 1.—The rush of the closing hours of congress showed itself yesterday in the miscellaneous character of the business transacted. The house, by a vote of 115 to 150 decided further to insist on its disagreement to the senate amendment to the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill providing for the Hawaiian cable. President Cleveland yesterday asked Chairman McCreary of the foreign affairs committee of the house whether the diplomatic appropriations could be continued by resolution in case the regular appropriation bill is vetoed. This is taken as an indication of his position on the Hawaiian cable proposition, and it has strengthened the hands of the opponents of the measure. Senator Morgan says the senate will die in the last ditch on the cable proposition, but with the failure of the appropriation bill as an alternative the prospect now is the senate will back down and the cable will be allowed to go by the board. The fifty-four bills passed by the senate on Tuesday night (most of them of minor importance) were laid before the house and disposed of.

The senate amendment to the bill to prohibit the wearing of the sign of the Red Cross without permission of the National Red Cross society was agreed to.

HOUSE MEMBERS ARE ANGRY.

Dislike Senate's Action in Passing the Hated Bounty Bill.

Washington, March 1.—Much dissatisfaction is expressed by the members of the house appropriations committee over the amendments which are being added to the sundry civil bill by the senate. Particular dissatisfaction is manifested against the sugar bounty provision, since the house has already voted upon that question in different ways and always signified its opposition to the bounty. That it will do so again is not doubted by the democrats and there may be a serious difference between the two houses over the question. Another matter that troubles members of the house is the number of public buildings for which appropriations have been added to the sundry civil bill. The democrats of the committee will make a fight against these additions and the members whose items originally received the committee's sanction are fearful that the buildings for their own districts may be endangered by the additions and that complications will be brought about which will threaten the success of all the building provisions.

France and the San Domingo Claims.

Washington, March 1.—The French government has so far acceded to Secretary Gresham's representations in the matter of attempting forcibly to collect indemnity from San Domingo as to abate for a time its insistence upon an immediate settlement of the claim for indemnity of the French bank and leave this to be settled by diplomatic negotiations. It insists, however, as a condition for this action that the government of San Domingo shall immediately pay the indemnity claims for the unwarrantable killing of a French subject during one of the revolutionary movements of the island.

No Appropriation for Sealers.

Washington, March 1.—The senate committee on appropriations did not include in the deficiency bill the appropriation of $420,000 for paying the claims of Canadian sealers. It is expected the amendment will be offered in the senate. Senator Morgan, chairman of the foreign relations committee, says he will not offer it, nor will he call a meeting of the committee to consider it.

Says Mrs. Hinshaw Died Quickly.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—A sensational exposure was made in the Belleville tragedy of Jan. 10 that tends to make it appear a cold blooded and brutal crime and showing why the detectives charged the Rev. William E. Hinshaw with the crime of wife murder. An examination has shown that Mrs. Hinshaw was shot in the right temple. The doctors testified to the coroner Mrs. Hinshaw would have suffered immediate unconsciousness from the shock and declare it would have been impossible for the minister's wife to have got out of her bed and fought a burglar through the house to the yard where she was found after the tragedy, as the minister alleges.

Col. Colt Pleads Not Guilty.

Washington Court House, Ohio, March 1.—Col. A. B. Colt appeared here yesterday before Judge Newby, of Highland county, and pleaded not guilty to the indictment for manslaughter. He asked a change of venue and Judge Newby took the matter under advisement. Col. Colt commanded the troops during the riot last October, when five persons were killed and several wounded in efforts to lynch Dolby, the negro who assaulted a white woman.

Germany Has Plans for Its Navy.

Berlin, March 1.—It was stated by Herr Lieber, the representative of the committee on naval estimates, in the reichstag yesterday that the government did not intend to increase the number of sea going vessels above fourteen, but seven second class cruisers and one first class cruiser would be built. The government, however, reserved the right to increase the number of first class cruisers at some future time.

COLORED MURDERER WAS HANGED TODAY

GEORGE MAGEE EXECUTED AT FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY.

Charles Thomas, a Fellow Convict Was His Victim—The Hayward Case Is Nearly at an End and Evidence In Rebuttal Commenced Yesterday.

Frankfort, Ky., March 1.—George Magee, a colored murderer, was hanged this morning. He killed Charles Thomas, a fellow convict.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 1.—The end of the long drawn out Hayward murder trial is in sight. The defense concluded its case yesterday, the state will take two days for rebuttal, and the defense a day for surrebuttal. The addresses to the jury will consume from two to three days and the charge a part of another day. So that the case will probably go to the jury Thursday of next week. This is the sixth week of the trial.

Now that the defense is all in the statement of Mr. Nye early on a reasonable doubt seems verified. First he tried to show Adry was the fiend who had proposed all the murders of killing to Harry, and that he had told the story the other way in making up a plot against his brother, and then, in attempting the insanity scheme against Adry, he wanted to show the jury that all those talks from Harry about murder were simply delusions of a crazed brain. The evidence given yesterday morning was principally in rebuttal, and was unimportant. M. J. Griffin, a paper hanger, corroborated Adry's testimony and impeached Harry's by swearing he found the two together in the Hayward office when he called Nov. 30. He was not shaken in his identification of the date. R. R. Odell, attorney for Blixt, denied the story of Maggie Wachter, his stenographer, point blank and declared Blixt did not make the statements with reference to Adry's complicity attributed to him by Miss Wachter.

In the afternoon in rebuttal Police Officer Robinson and Sergt. Lennahad were called to explain the reason why the witnesses for the defense saw blood in the ditch near the Tamarack Swamp. The defense had claimed all along that the murder was committed there, but the officers said the day after the murder they shoveled off the bloody sand and threw it into the swamp at the side of the road.

Edward Eidam was an important witness to corroborate the story of Blixt and show shots heard by people at Lake Calhoun were not those fired by the murderer. The night of the murder at 8 o'clock he heard a shot in the woods near where he was standing. Before he heard the shot he heard a rig on the road toward town, but heard no other one. After the shot he saw or heard no rig drive toward town. He heard a voice, but could not say whether it was a man's or a woman's.

Mrs. Jeanette Hale testified the night of the murder she and her daughter were going to the theatre and when they were walking to take the car they saw a man walking fast going toward Mr. Bartleson's residence. This was shortly before 8 o'clock. Mrs. Hale knew Harry Hayward and thought it was him. Miss Bartleson and Mr. Hayward came and took the same car with them. The mother and daughter arrived at the theatre first and the play had been in progress some time then. Hayward had to wait to secure his tickets. Miss Hale, who knew more than her mother about it, was not in the city, having gone east.

John A. Olson gave evidence to impeach Maggie Wachter's testimony, saying she told him he could make $1,000 by going to the defense and saying he knew Blixt. On the stand Miss Wachter had denied any such talk with him. This closed the testimony.

TALKS AT SAVANNAH.

Slattery Resumes His Lectures in the Southern City.

Savannah, Ga., March 1.—Yesterday was another day and night of intense excitement in Savannah. Feeling seems to run high, though there were no hostilities of any kind. In the afternoon Mrs. Slattery lectured to 600 women in Oddfellows' hall. Policemen were stationed in the square on which the hall fronts. At night Oddfellows' hall was crowded to its limit and many were turned away. Fully 1,000 men were in the hall. Outside the entire police force, with the exception of a few men scattered through the audience, was distributed so as to command the entire vicinity of the hall. Slattery was escorted back to the hotel by a large body of police. Several hundred of those who had heard him followed to assist in protecting him. While there were many people on the streets to the hotel, there was no demonstration made against the ex-priest except hisses. Fifteen of the men said to have been prominent in the troubles Tuesday night were arrested yesterday. Four of them were tried, of whom three were sent to jail for thirty days. Other arrests are to follow.

Fred Pfeffer Reinstated.

New York, March 1.—The league magnates, after an all day fight over the Fred Pfeffer case, finally reinstated him and adjourned till fall. He is assigned to the Louisville club.

All the injured will recover. A coroner's jury viewed the remains of the dead and will begin taking testimony regarding the accident to-day. It is claimed the White Ash mine was not properly ventilated. Supt. Duggan says the explosion occurred in room 8, on the fourth level, over which a danger line had been drawn. Two men, it is alleged, went over the danger line with an open lamp, contrary to orders. The victims of the disaster were buried yesterday afternoon, making the largest funeral ever seen in New Mexico in time of peace.

A detachment of 100 soldiers is expected to arrive soon from Porto Rico. Spanish warships are cruising around the island to intercept filibusterers.

Key West, Fla., March 1.—News comes from Havana that the excitement there is intense, and that the government is doing all it can to suppress reports of the revolution. At least 1,000 trained men have left this city in the last sixty days for Havana. They went a few at a time, so as to disarm suspicion.

Washington, March 1.—No official dispatches have been received by the Spanish legation here in regard to affairs in Cuba, but from unofficial information Minister Murugua thinks the trouble is over. POWER FOR MILITIA.

Both Legislative Branches Pass a Bill with Radical Provisions.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—The bill for the reorganization of the state militia and appropriating $45,000, passed the senate yesterday and now awaits the action of the governor, whose sanction it undoubtedly will receive. Under this bill when the militia is called to suppress a disturbance the commander of the militia is placed in authority over the civil officers. The practical effect of the bill is to place under martial law those localities to which the militia is called to suppress riots. Another important provision is that soldiers charged with killing or injury to persons in a mob into which the troops have fired shall be tried by court-martial, and the finding of this tribunal shall be final. The vote on the bill was: Yeas, 29; nays, 19. The senate passed the compulsory education bill and the house passed the fee and salary bill approved by the joint republican caucus Wednesday night. The house also passed bills depriving the attorney-general of the 12 per cent paid for collection of unexpended school balances and creating a board of state house commissioners, to be composed of the governor, secretary of state and the auditor of state.

In the senate Senator Crawford's bill relative to elevated roads was taken up first. After a two hours' debate it was put on its passage and failed by two votes. Senator Hunt introduced a bill fixing the charge in stockyards for the sale of grain, hay, or feed at not more than 50 per cent above the wholesale market price. It prohibits the charging for yarding and watering of more than 15 cents a head for cattle, 20 cents a head for horses and mules, 5 cents a head for hogs and sheep, and 10 cents a head for calves. KIMBALL OPPOSED
THE DAIRY BILL

PROTECTS THE BUTTER MAKERS BUT RAISES PRICES

Therefore, He Held, It Was Unjust and He Voted Against It—Finally Sent to a Third Reading—Is the Dobbs Measure a "Dead Head"—Measures That Were Passed.

Madison, Mar. 1.—Assemblyman Kimball, of Janesville, spoke and voted against the dairy bill this morning on the ground that while it protected the butter makers it raised the price to the consumer and therefore was not just. The bill finally went to a third reading by a vote of eighty-five to four. Senator McMullen, objected to the passage of a law, terminating the office of Commissioner Dobbs as it was a substitute bill of entirely different nature and was in effect a "dead head," which are prohibited by resolution. The bill was laid over until Tuesday.

The bill to change the composition of the board of control was referred to a committee again, without discussion.

Senator Putnam offered a substitute for his resolution for the examination into the number and salary of the employees in the state offices and the methods of conducting business, the substitute being open to all state institutions and instructing the committee to report at the next legislature instead of this one.

Bills were passed in the assembly appropriating ten thousand dollars for seeds for the fire sufferers of northern Wisconsin and taxing vessels according to their size and tonnage.

The writer gives Fair until March 25 to remit the money. At the same time he wrote to the attorneys for the executors, making the same proposition. The recipients paid no attention to the letters, but there is much speculation concerning the clumsy but persistent blackmail.

Doe, well known in this city as being one of the biggest lumbermen on the coast. The estate, which is worth nearly $1,400,000, has been in course of litigation for some years, the chief obstacle to its final distribution being the pendency of the suits just compromised. Two other estates of equal value are also still in the courts because of the suits against Doe's estate. They are those of Metcalf and Bradley of Milwaukee, the principal men in the Waterloo Mining company.

There is almost uniform reference to low wheat supplies and that they are held for better prices. The week's packing of hogs amounted to 370,000, against 300,000 for the corresponding week last year. CENTER LEAF GROWERS SMILE.

This Kind of Weather Just Suits Them—Death of Jessie Rettig.

Dath entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Rettig on Tuesday and took away their youngest daughter, little Jessie, aged one year and eleven months. The entertainment given by the Footville school was a success. The proceeds amounted to about twelve dollars, which will go toward the purchase of an organ for the school. Luella Conroy—"The American Indian." The judges were F. L. Clemons, A. E. Matheson and W. S. Jeffris. Three of the successful contestants belong to the junior class.

It is not a miracle. It won't cure everything, but it will cure piles. That's what Dr. Witt's Witch Hazel Salve will do, because it has done it in hundreds of cases. C. D. Stevens.

Needed—A Policeman.

Talk about packed houses, standing room only, and all those sort of things. There was not even standing room at Lowell's yesterday. It was almost suffocation. One lady was heard to tell her husband last night that she went to Lowell's yesterday to get a silver tray for five cents, and would have purchased more tinware, but she had to get out or faint, the crowd was so great. Never in the history of the state has such a sale been known; never have such prices been made and never again will they be made until Lowell Hardware Co.

VOTE BEGINS TODAY FOR THE $500 PRIZE

FIRST BALLOT IN THE "BABY CONTEST" IS NOW PRINTED

Five Shares of Stock in the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association Will be Given the Winner June 1—Value at Maturity Is $500 and It Is Non Assessable.

The first ballot on The Gazette's voting contest for babies is printed today. Much interest has been centered in The Gazette's offer to present the baby who gets the highest number of votes with $500 worth of stock in the Rock County Building Loan and Savings Association. It is a prize worth getting, for naturally it will be worth just half a thousand dollars. That will be a nice nest egg if kept at interest after maturity until the child becomes old enough to want to use it.

It will buy an education. It will buy a building lot. It will buy a piano and the lessons necessary to play upon it.

It is more than many people are able to save in a life time.

Of course all the mothers and fathers want it for their babe. How to get it is told below:

The polls opened this morning and will remain open until June 1. The baby that receives the most ballots in that time will receive a certificate calling for these five shares of stock. There are no dues to be paid, no assessments to be met, no installments to provide for. The stock stands for $500 in cash and on its maturity, which will be in nine and one-third years, the money will be ready. The prize is a handsome one—it is well worth winning and the conditions of the ballot are as follows:

From March 1 until June 1, a coupon will be printed in each issue of The Gazette.

Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

Cut the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines.) Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to Ballot Editor, Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

Only one person can be voted for on one ballot.

The baby who receives the largest number of votes will receive five shares of stock in the Rock County Building & Savings Association, cash value, $500 at maturity.

The contest will close June 1 at 9 p. m., and the stock will be delivered as soon as the count of votes is completed.

Any non-subscriber who will subscribe for The Gazette and pay in advance will be entitled to the following number of ballots:

New subscriber paid in advance one month, 100 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance two months, 250 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance six months, 900 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance one year, 2,000 votes.

Each new subscriber who pays in advance and casts the number of votes specified is also entitled, of course, to cut coupons from the paper from day to day and vote in the regular manner.

No person will be allowed extra votes for stopping his paper and having it sent to another name at the same address.

In every instance they must be bona fide new subscribers.

No person will be allowed to stop his paper on Monday and start it again Tuesday and claim the premium offered.

No votes can be transferred from one candidate to another after being registered in this office.

Candidates must not be more than three years of age March 1, 1895, and must live in Janesville.

THE BALLOT.

The Publishers of "The Janesville Gazette" will give 5 Shares of stock in the Rock County Building, Loan & Savings Association to the Baby who receives the largest number of ballots.

Don't neglect that cough, it leads to consumption. One Minute Cough Cure possesses a double virtue. It cures and cures quickly. C. D. Stevens.

OBJECTS AND NEEDS OF Y. M. C. A.

The Amount Needed to Finish Janesville's Building Is Comparatively Small.

EDITOR GAZETTE.—First of all, the loyalty of men is called forth when there is a great sense of wrong to be righted, of need to be supplied. When vice lifts its unblinking head into the light, then true men are stirred to their depths and they become enthusiastic in their devotion to the cause of purity and justice. The Y. M. C. A. asks no more of our philanthropic citizens than has been given to hundreds of smaller and less needy cities throughout the country. Many, I think, have not seen the association in its entirety. They have seen it as a gymnasium; they have seen it as an evening class; as a literary society, or as a library, but they have not seen it as a great moral force in the community. They have not taken the association seriously; they have not comprehended that great principle which would call for their earnest support.

The object of the association, its need of men and money, the principles which control it, and the methods which are observed in its conduct, should be considered by all men, without regard to creed or religious belief. A distinct rule has been maintained from the first organization that no denominational or political discussions should be allowed in the association. We meet together as men interested in all our fellows with one common interest and all are welcome.

Men like to be identified with institutions of dignity and importance, and it is this kind of an organization that should call out the sympathy and support of every loyal citizen of this city to complete the building enterprise of our local Y. M. C. A., which necessity is laid upon us all and is our reasonable duty.

Surely in importance, in dignity, in length of service and honorableness of record the association is second to none of our many organizations with its five thousand branches, representing every part of the world; its five hundred thousand members, its beautiful buildings, the place it holds in our important centers and communities, the character of the backing and commands, no one need be ashamed of his connection with this organization. Scores of young men stand ready to take advantage of the privileges of our local association when our handsome new building is completed. Men and women who are looking for opportunities to invest money that will bring large returns weekly and an increase during the hard times can here find the object of their search. The amount needed to complete our association building free from all debt is very small. $15,000 has been raised in good subscriptions, not including the $5,000 proposition which lacks only one more name to complete it, which will swell the subscription list to $20,000, good subscriptions, when some smaller pledges from those who have given nothing would complete the work of a building that every citizen can point to with pride and feel we have an institution of public interest and practical benefit open from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. every day of the week to welcome and stimulate the social, intellectual, moral and physical needs of our young men. Men of means should hasten the time when this may be true. Y. M. C. A.

MR. ALLISON'S LOSS WILL REACH $9,000

FIRE WAS MORE SERIOUS THAN AT FIRST FIGURED.

He Had Just Received a Number Of New Machines and a Carload Of Choice Lumber—Tables, Sideboards and Fine Furniture Were the Products Of the Plant.

A. W. Allison, proprietor of the furniture factory which was burned yesterday morning, returned from Illinois yesterday. He says his loss will not fall short of $9,000. He had a large amount of stock on hand in various stages of manufacture, and had just got in a carload of choice lumber. Besides this, he had just put up a number of new and expensive machines. For some time past the factory had been manufacturing a class of fine furniture, tables and sideboards, which were being placed on the market, and were not given a premium in the sale of baking powder.

"I do not know yet, just what I will do in regard to rebuilding the factory," said Mr. Allison. "But if I rebuild it will be up in the fire limits where I can get some fire protection."

Mrs. D. D. Bennett, 124 McKey boulevard, says she was awakened a few minutes before the fire alarm by their dog barking. That a moment later she heard a couple of men running on the sidewalk in front of their house, but thought nothing about it until after the family was aroused by a neighbor's boy rapping on the window and calling to them that the factory was on fire.

"I do not think that the fire was caused by spontaneous combustion," said Mr. Allison. "We are very careful down there, and clean everything up every night, taking care of all oily rags and waste."

The New Boy.

Bert Coote in the title role, another college president has been mixed up in a love adventure. The director of a fashionable boys' school is to be here tonight and will explain it. Briefly, he lost his heart on a handsome, young widow, tall and stately, and to be near her, he made her matron of his school. She came with a little chap, scarcely up to her shoulder in stature. The doctor said he would educate her boy and make a man of him. He put him into the classes Manager Stoddard will explain the balance.

The Keystone of the Arch

In the office of health is vigor, which means not merely muscular energy but an active discharge of the various functions of the body such as digestion, secretion of the bile, the action of the bowels, the circulation of the blood. Nothing more actively and thoroughly contributes to the united performance of these functions than the renowned tonic and regulator, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The result of its use is a speedy gain in strength, together with the agreeable consciousness that the tenure of life is being strengthened—that one is laying up a store of vitality against the unavoidable draughts which old age makes upon the system. The fortifying influence of this Bitters—on time its reliable safeguard against malaria, rheumatism and kidney trouble. Appetite and sleep improve through its use, and it protects the system from the effects of cold and damp.

GOOD MEN FOR MAYOR.

The objection that is frequently met just before a political campaign, is, that the republican party is short of good men who are willing to run for office. This objection is well taken, and yet there is no reason why any good man whom the party honors with a nomination, should not be willing to make whatever sacrifice is necessary in the interests of good city government.

Next to the welfare of the nation is the welfare of the city we call our home. Every good citizen recognizes this fact, and yet when it comes to a question of responsibility a large element of the best men in both political parties are in the habit of saying: "Oh give the office to John Smith or Sam Jones, or any other political aspirant who wants it. I wouldn't be bothered with it."

This disposition to shun responsibility is not quite fair and frequently results in electing men to an important office, who represent nothing but personal ambition. Janesville is entitled to better treatment, at the hands of her citizens, and it occurs to The Gazette that no man can afford to assume an attitude of indifference.

If the city is to grow and develop all along the lines of permanent prosperity, good municipal government will be an important factor.

The council should represent in its broadness, sense, intelligence, integrity, enterprise and morality. Combine with these qualifications, success in business, and a competency honestly acquired, and you have a model city official. Fill the council with a dozen such men, and they are to be found by the score in both political parties, and the result is, model city government.

More important than party ambition or personal aspirations is this question of clean and wholesome home administration; and yet party lines are closely drawn, and the contest waxing hot at every succeeding election.

The republican party never lacks for plenty of good material, but it possesses a modesty in the matter of positions of purely trust and honor, that is sometimes extremely embarrassing. The party throughout the state and nation is just entering upon an era of new life that will extend well over into the next century.

It is important that every office whether municipal, state or national should be filled with the best men in the party.

The Gazette takes the responsibility of suggesting a list of names as possible candidates for the office of mayor. The list might be multiplied several times with the same class of men, without going outside of the ranks of the republican party.

- Here is the list:
A. P. Lovejoy,
Hiram Merrill,
W. T. Vankirk,
Stanley B. Smith,
C. S. Jackman,
L. B. Carle,
C. L. Valentine,
O. F. Nowlan,
J. W. Sale,
S. C. Cobb,
Joan Thoroughgood,
W. B. Carle,
C. D. Child,
S. J. Hughes,
F. S. Winslow,
Ogden H. Fethers,
M. G. Jeffris,
William Ruger,
Fenner Kimball,
E. W. Lowell,
R. F. Dunnwiddie,
B. B. Eldredge,
H. S. Woodruff,
J. M. Bostwick,
L. H. Becker,
A. H. Sheldon.

- I. C. Browne,
F. M. Marzluff,
A. A. Jackson,
Dr. Heary Palmer,
D. P. Smith,
John M. Whitehead.

Not one of these gentlemen has been consulted, and if you should go to them tomorrow and ask them if they would accept the office if nominated, they would probably say "no," and yet it is true that not a man on the list is too good for the office of mayor, and any one of them could afford to make the sacrifice for the good of the city.

Democracy finally admits that their favorite tariff bill is far from perfect. Secretary Carlisle has sent to the Senate finance committee a long list of errors which in his judgment ought to be corrected. The country entered a protest long ago, suggested by the convincing argument of bitter experience.

General James B. Weaver is said to be engaged in organizing another new party, whose mission is to absorb the populists, socialists, and malcontents of all political creeds. The 16 to 1 silver dollar will be a prominent plank in the platform, and plenty of money without collateral will be urged as the great incentive of success.

New York city has just floated $3,250,000 of city bond for three per cent. The United States goes across the water for the privilege of paying four.

The closing hours of the fifty-third congress are notable. Extravagance and contention are prominent features. Final adjournment will be a relief to the country at least.

The vote in the senate on sugar bounties, should convince the most skeptical southern democrat, that his best friends are in the ranks of the republican party.

The United States will be represented in the International Silver Congress by nine commissioners. The country will watch developments with unusual interest.

Mrs. Campbell Wishes Her Letter Published so that the Truth May Be Known.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS]
Of the thousands of letters received from women all over the world by Mrs. Pinkham, not one is given to the public unless by the wish of the writer. Thus absolute confidence is established between Mrs. Pinkham and her army of patients; and she freely solicits a letter from any woman, rich or poor, who is in ill health or ailing.
In the case of Mary E. Campbell, of Albion, Noble Co., Ind., her suffering was so severe, her relief so suddenly realized, and her gratitude so great, that she wishes the circumstances published, in the hope that others may be benefited thereby. She says:—
"My physician told me I had dropsy and falling of the womb. My stomach and bowels were so bloated I could not get a full breath. My face and hands were bloated badly. I had that dreadful bearing-down pain, backache, palpitation of the heart, and nervousness.
"One of my physicians told me I had something growing in my stomach; and the medicine that I took gave me relief only for a short time. I thought I must die. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it worked like a charm. After taking the first bottle I could walk across the street, now I am well. I advise all my friends to take it."

SUNDAY'S SERMON BY DR. TALMAGE

HEROES AND HEROISM OF THE BIBLE'S TIME.

The Story of Benaiah and the Lions—
"He Went Down and Slew a Lion in a Pit on a Snowy Day"—Chronicles ii: 22.

NEW YORK, FEB. 24, 1895.—Dr. Talmage took for his subject to-day, "A Snowy Day," the text selected being 1. Chronicles ii: 22: "He went down and slew a lion in a pit in a snowy day."

Have you ever heard of him? His name was Benaiah.

He was a man of stout muscle and of great valor. His father was a hero, and he inherited prowess. He was athletic and there was iron in his blood, and the strongest bone in his body was back bone. He is known for other wonders besides that of the text. An Egyptian five cubits in stature, or about seven feet nine inches high, was moving around in braggadoocio and flourishing a great spear, careless as to whom he killed, and Benaiah of my text, with nothing but a walking stick came upon him, snatched the spear from the Egyptian, and with one thrust of its sharp edge, put an end to the blatant bully, which makes us think of the story in our Greek lesson too hard for us if the smarter boy on the same bench had not helped us out with it, in which Horatius the Macedonian, and Dioxippus the Athenian, fought in the presence of Alexander; the Macedonian armed with shield and sword and javelin, and the Athenian with nothing but a club. The Macedonian hurled the javelin, but the Athenian successfully dodged it, and the Macedonian lifted the spear, but the Athenian with the club broke it, and the Macedonian drew the sword, but the Athenian tripped him up before he could strike with it, and then the Athenian with his club would have beaten the life out of the Macedonian, fallen among his useless weapons, if Alexander had not commanded, "Stop! Stop!" But Benaiah of the text is about to do something that will eclipse even that. There is trouble in all the neighborhood. Lambs are carried off in the night, and children venturing only a little way from their father's house are found mangled and dead. The fact is, the land was infested with lions, and few people dared meet one of these grizzly beasts, much less corner or attack it, one morning a footstep of a lion was tracked in the snow. It had been out on its devouring errand through the darkness, but at last it is found by the impression of four paws on the white surface of the ground, which way the wild beast came, and which way it had gone. Perilous undertaking; but Benaiah, the hero of the text, armed himself with such weapons as those early days afforded, gunpowder having been invented in a far subsequent century by the German monk, Bethold Schwartz. Therefore, without gun or any kind of firearms, Benaiah of the text no doubt depended on the sharp steel edge for his own defense and the slaughter of the lion as he followed the track through the snow. It may have been a javelin, it may have been only a knife; but what Benaiah lacks in weapon he will make up in strength of arm and skill of stroke. But where is the lion? We must not get off his track in the snow. The land has many cisterns, or pits, for catching rain, the rainfall being very scarce at certain seasons, and hence these cisterns, or reservoirs, are dug here and there, and yonder. Lions have an instinct which seems to tell them when they are pursued, and this dread monster of which I speak, retreats into one of these cisterns which happened to be free of water, and is there panting from the long run, and licking its jaws after a repast of human flesh, and after quaffing the red vintage of human blood.

Benaiah is all alert, and comes cautiously on toward the hiding place of this terror of the fields. Coming to the verge of the pit, he looks down at the lion, and the lion looks up at him. What a moment it was when their eyes clashed! But while a modern Du Chailu, Gordon Cumming or Sir Samuel Baker, or David Livingston would have just brought the gun to the shoulder, and blazed away into the depths, and finished the beast, Benaiah, with only the old time weapon, can do nothing until he gets on a level with the beast, and so he jumps into the pit, and the lion with shining teeth of rage, and claws lifted to tear to shreds the last vestige of human life, springs for the man, while Benaiah springs for the beast. But the quick stroke of the steel edge flashed again, and again, and again, until the snow was no longer white, and the right foot of triumphant Benaiah is half covered with the tawny mane of the slain horror of Palestine.

Now you see how emphatic, and tragic, and tremendous are the words of my text: "He went down and slew a lion in a pit in a snowy day." Why put that in the Bible? Why put it twice in the Bible, once in the book of Samuel, and here in the book of Chronicles? Oh the practical lessons are so many for you and for me. What a cheer in this subject for all those of you who are in conjunction of hostile circumstances. Three things were against Benaiah of my text in the moment of combat, the snow that impeded his movements, the pit that environed him in a small space, and the lion with open jaws and uplifted paw. And yet I hear the shot of Benaiah's victory. Oh, men and women of three troubles. You say, "I could stand one, and I think I could stand two; but three are at least one too many."

There is a man in business perplexity, and who has sickness in his family, and old age is coming on. Three troubles; a lion, a pit and snowy day. There is a dissipated husband, and a wayward boy—three troubles! There is a young man, salary cut down, backward, frowning future—three troubles. There is a maiden with difficult school lessons she can not get a face that is not as attractive as some of her schoolmates, a prospect that through hard times she must quit school before she graduates—three troubles! There is an author, his manuscript rejected, his power of origination in decadence, a numbness in forefinger and thumb, which threatens paralysis

—three troubles! There is a reporter of fine taste sent to report a pugilism instead of an oratorio, the copy he hands in is rejected because the paper is full, a mother to support on small income—three troubles! I could march right off the seats, and across this platform, if they would come at my call, five hundred people with three troubles. This is the opportunity to play the hero or the heroine, not on a small stage with a few hundred people to clap their approval, but with all the galleries of heaven filled with sympathetic and applauding spectators, for we are "surrounded by a great cloud of witnesses." My brother, my sister, my father, my mother, what a chance you have! While you are in the struggle, if you only have the grace of Christ to listen, a voice parts the heavens, saying, "My grace is sufficient for thee;" "Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth;" "You shall be more than conquerors." And that reminds me of a letter on my table written by some one whom I suppose to be at this moment present, saying: "My dear, dear Doctor: You will please pardon the writer for asking that at some time when you feel like it, you kindly preach from the 30th psalm, 5th verse: 'Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning,' and much oblige a down town business man." So to all down town business men, and to all up town business men, I say, if you have on hand goods that you can not sell, and debtors who will not, or can not, pay, and you are also suffering from uncertainty as to what the imbecile American congress will do about the tariff, you have three troubles, and enough to bring you within the range of the consolation of my text, where you find the triumph of Benaiah over a lion, and a pit, and a snowy day. If you have only one trouble, I can not spend any time with you to-day. You must have at least three, and then remember how many have triumphed over such a triad of misfortune. Paul had three troubles: Sanhedrin denouncing him—that was one great trouble; physical infirmity, which he called "a thorn in the flesh," and although we know not what the thorn was, we do know from the figure he used that it must have been something that stuck him—that was the second trouble; approaching martyrdom—that made the three troubles. Yet, hear what he says: "If I had only one misfortune, I could stand that; but three are two too many." No; I misinterpret. He says, "Sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; poor, yet making many rich; having nothing, yet possessing all things." Thanks be unto God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

David had three troubles: a bad boy, a temptation to dissoluteness, and dejection. What does he say? "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in time of trouble. Therefore, will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be cast into the midst of the sea."

John Wesley had three troubles: Defamation by mobs; domestic infelicity; fatigue from more sermons preached and more miles traveled than almost any man of his time. What does he say? "The best of all is, God is with us." And when his poet brother, Charles Wesley, said to him, "Brother John, if the Lord were to give me wings, I'd fly." John's reply was, "Brother Charles, if the Lord told me to fly, I'd do it, and leave him to find the wings."

George Whitefield had three troubles: Rejection from the pulpits of England because he was too dramatic—that was one trouble; strabismus, or the crossing of his eyes that subjected him to the caricature of all the small wits of the day; vermin and dead animals thrown at him while he preached on the commons—that made three troubles. Nevertheless his sermons were so buoyant that a little child dying soon after hearing him preach said in the intervals of pain, "Let me go to Mr. Whitefield's God." Oh, I am so glad that Benaiah of my text was not the only one who triumphed over a lion in a pit on a snowy day.

Notice in my text a victory over bad weather. It was a snowy day, when one's vitality is at a low ebb, and the spirits are naturally depressed, and one does not feel like undertaking a great enterprise, when Benaiah rubs his hands together to warm them by extra friction, or threshes his arms around him to revive circulation of the blood, and then goes at the lion, which was all the more fierce and ravenous because of the sharp weather. Inspiration here admits atmospheric hindrance. The snowy day at Valley Forge well nigh put an end to the struggle for American independence. The snowy day demolished Napoleon's army on the way from Moscow. The inclemency of January and February weather has some years bankrupted thousands of merchants. Long succession of stormy Sabbaths has crippled innumerable churches. Lighthouses veiled by the snow on many a coast have failed to warn off from the rocks the doomed frigate. Tens of thousands of Christians of nervous temperament by the depression of a snowy day almost despair of reaching heaven. Yet, in that style of weather Benaiah of the text achieved his most celebrated victory; and let us by the grace of God become victor over influences atmospheric. If we are happy only when the wind blows from the clear northwest, and the thermometer is above freezing point and the sky is an inverted blue cup of sunshine poured all over us, it is a religion 95 per cent off. Thank God there are Christians, who, though their whole life through sickness has been a snowy day, have killed every lion of dependency that dared to put its cruel paw against their suffering pillow. It was a snowy day when the pilgrim fathers set foot, not on a bank of flowers, but on the cold New England rock, and from a ship that might have been more appropriately called after a December hurricane than after a "May-flower," they took possession of this great continent. And amid more chilly worldly circumstances many a good man or a good woman has taken possession of a whole continent of spiritual satisfaction, valleys of peace, and rivers of gladness, and mountains of joy. Christ landed in our world not in the month of May, but in the stormy month of December, to show us that we might have Christ in winter weather, and on a snowy day.

Notice everything down in the pit that snowy day depended upon Benaiah's weapon. There was as much strength in one muscle of that lion as in all the muscles of both arms of Benaiah. It is the strongest of beasts, and has been known to carry off an ox. Its tongue is so rough that it acts as a rasp tearing off the flesh it licks. The two great canines at each side of the mouth make escape impossible for anything it has once seized. Yet Benaiah puts his heel on the neck of this "king of beasts." Was it a dagger? Was it a javelin? Was it a knife? I can not tell, but everything depended upon it. But for that, Benaiah's body under one crunch of the monster would have been left limp and tumbled in the snow. And when you and I go into the fight with temptation, if we have not the right kind of weapon, instead of our slaying the lion, the lion will slay us. The sword of the Spirit! Nothing in earth or hell can stand before that. Victory with that, or no victory at all. By that I mean prayer to God, confidence in his rescuing power, saving grace, Almighty deliverance. I do not care what you call it; I call it "Sword of the Spirit." And if the lions of all the jungles of perdition should at once spring upon your soul, by that weapon of heavenly metal you can thrust them back, and cut them down, and stab them through, and leave them powerless at your feet. Your good resolution welded against the powers which assault you is a toy pistol against an Armstrong gun; is a pen knife held out against the brandished sabres of a Heintzelman's cavalry charge. Go in to the fight against sin on your own strength, and the result will be the hot breath of the lion in your blanched face, and his front paws, one on each lung. Alas! for the man not fully armed, down in the pit, on a snowy day, and before him a lion.

All my hearers and readers have a big fight of some sort on hand, but the biggest and the wrathful lion which you have to fight is what the Bible calls "The roaring lion, who walketh about, you have never seen a real lion unless you have seen him in India or Africa, just after capture. Long caging breaks his spirit, and the constant presence of human beings tames him. But you ought to see him spring against the iron bars in the zoological gardens of Calcutta, and hear him roar for the prey. It makes one's blood curdle, and you shrink back, although you know there is no peril. Plenty of lions in olden time. Six hundred of them were slaughtered on one occasion in the presence of Pompey in the Roman amphitheater. Lions came out and destroyed the camels which carried the baggage of Xerxes' army. In Bible times there were so many lions that they are frequently alluded to in the scriptures. Joel, the prophet, describes the "cheek teeth" of a great lion; and Isaiah mentions among the attractions of heaven that "no lion shall be there;" and Amos speaks of a shepherd taking a lamb's ear out of the mouth of a lion; and Solomon describes the righteous as "bold as a lion;" and Daniel was a great lion tamer; and David, and Jeremiah, and St. John often speak of this creature.

Well, it will be better than that when some of you are seen entering the harbor of heaven. You have had a rough voyage—no mistake about that. Snowy day after snowy day. Again and again the machinery of health and courage broke down, and the waves of temptation have swept clear over the hurricane deck, so that you were often compelled to say, "All thy waves and thy billows have gone over me," and you were down in the trough of that sea, and down in the trough of the other sea, and many despaired of your safe arrival. But the great Pilot, not one who must come off from some other craft, but the one who walked storm-swept Galilee, and now walks the wintry Atlantic, comes on board, and heads you for the haven, when no sooner have you passed the narrows of death than you find all the banks lined with immortals celebrating your arrival; and while some break off palm branches from the banks and wave them, those standing on one side will chant "There shall be no more sea;" and those standing on the other side will chant, "These are they which came out of great tribulation, and had their robes washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb." Off of the stormy sea into the smooth harbor. Out of leonine struggle in the pit, to guidance by the lamb, who shall lead you to living fountains of water. Out of the snowy day of earthly severities into the gardens of everlasting flora, and into orchards of eternal fruitage, the fall of their white blossoms the only snow in heaven.

Supervisor Kimball, from committee No. 7, (public buildings) reported as follows and moved its adoption:
To the Hon. Board of Supervisors of Rock County: Your committee beg leave to make report as follows:
At the last report of your committee January, 1894, the asylum buildings were in process of construction. The work continued on during the winter and the buildings were practically completed and accepted April 25, 1894.
The paupers were transferred to the new almshouse April 20, 1894, and the insane to the new asylum May 1, 1894.
Much work had to be done in preparing and fitting the buildings for occupancy.
It was found that much more space to enclose in detail the necessary work your committee was called upon to do. As the case in all new buildings, it is almost impossible to anticipate wants that need to be developed. It became apparent to your committee before the completion of the buildings, that the plans were quite deficient in detail. Some changes had to be made quite a number of changes for extra work. It was necessary for some repairs to be made on the Barker house, also on the Barker stone house, all of which were done. The whole expense of construction of county buildings including extra and repairs as above amounts to $36,843.88. Within a short time after the buildings were occupied, it was found that the buildings were not as well adapted to the purpose as the plans of the architect could not take care of the flowing and running out of the Barker house. This caused Mr. Chapin, much trouble. This caused Mr. Chapin, much trouble. This caused Mr. Chapin, much trouble.

He was obliged to put them in other feeding lots or watch them. Under this condition of affairs, Mr. Chapin made a report asking that the matter be attended to, a plan that it would not be necessary to take legal steps to secure relief. Your committee, with members of the board, took the matter into consideration, and after looking the situation carefully over, came to the conclusion that the only way out of the dilemma was to make a new rock house, or at least to enlarge the old one. The plan was surveyed by O. G. Beedon, plans and specifications were prepared and bids received for the construction of the new building. The award was made to Brown, whose bid was $2,818.11, sewer to be finished by December 15, 1894. The work was immediately begun under the supervision of Mr. Beedon, who was assisted by Mr. W. J. Chapin. This work was pushed to completion within the time specified. The total cost of the sewer was as follows:

Plan and specifications $2,818.11
Extras 65.87
William Gunn 40.00
O. G. Beedon, survey and superintendent 300.00
Hugh Chapin, right of way 300.00
Total 3,324.98

87 of the above is held back to secure proper leveling off of the work after the ground has settled. A hog house and corn crib have been built at an expense of $481.56. This building was made to conform to the protection of the hogs and pigs during the winter months.

ing of the board Nov. 17, 1893, by resolution the district attorney was instructed to commence proceedings in the circuit court for the collection of all money due the county from the city of Janesville for licenses. This to be a test case of the validity of chapter 417 laws of 1887. We are informed by District Attorney Wheeler that the action was commenced in the circuit court and the defendants answered and demurred to the complaint. The court sustained the demurrer and the case is now on for a preliminary hearing. The case is now on for a preliminary hearing. The case is now on for a preliminary hearing.

It is stated there are no legal objections to the return from the county to the town system of maintaining a poor. In fact the law provides the way to it, and yet it is exceedingly difficult to carry out. It is now proposed to carry out the system as it now prevails in Rock county, and so it is, since the county has with it all the modern appliances for maintaining and caring for the unfortunate poor. In view of these facts and also of a decision of the supreme court, the result of which will determine the future proceedings in the matter under consideration. Your committee would recommend the postponement of the resolution of the board until after the decision of the court is rendered.

Polyglot Coroner.
An exchange tells a story of a coroner who was called upon to hold an inquest over the body of an Italian. The only witness was a small boy of the same nationality, who spoke no English.

The examination proceeded thus:
"Where do you live, my boy?"
The boy shook his head.
"Do you speak English?"
Another shake of the head.
"Do you speak French?"
Another shake.
"Do you speak German?"
Still no answer.
"How old are you?"
No reply.
"Have you father and mother?"
No reply.
"Do you speak Italian?"
The boy gave no sign.
